Re: Campaign Endorsements for Gainesville City Commission:

The North-Central Chapter, Florida Police Benevolent Association, Inc. is pleased to announce our endorsement of Don Marsh for Gainesville City Commissioner, At-Large.

As a successful businessman residing in Gainesville for the past three decades, Don has a connection to our community that is second to none. His involvement in various private, local charities has given him a great appreciation for the various socio-economic challenges which face the community.

Don has a plan to prioritize government spending combined with a true dedication to fiscal frugality which will serve to increase the effectiveness and reach of city programs while decreasing the economic burden these programs create for our residents. Don acknowledges that residents should not have to pay additional taxes and fees for core governmental services which property taxes should already fund adequately enough. Don also understands that reigning in uncontrolled funding for “pet projects” coupled with responsible government spending by the City of Gainesville is the only way to guarantee continued growth and economic sustainability for the future of our city.

For these reasons, the Florida Police Benevolent Association proudly endorses Don Marsh and his candidacy for Gainesville City Commission, At-Large.

The Florida Police Benevolent Association is the largest, most active and most influential police advocacy group in the State of Florida, representing over 36,000 law enforcement, corrections and correctional-probation officers throughout the state.
